what do u do? in Randolph County

Few areas in America, with such beautiful mountain scenery and prime outdoor recreation, can also boast the rich culture and heritage of Randolph County in West Virginia.

You can trace our heritage from one of the first battlefields of the Civil War to many of the historic buildings and villages where customs and traditions are maintained to help you capture the lifestyle and spirit of our founding fathers.

At the heart of Randolph County is the City of Elkins. It bustles year-round with an eclectic array of events, including concerts, professional theater productions, Branson-style entertainment, train excursions and a continuous schedule of arts-related events and workshops.

Elkins has earned the reputation of being a good "base camp" from which to enjoy everything in the area.

the Durbin & Greenbrier Valley Railroad

Take adventure to an entirely new level and explore wild, wonderful West Virginia aboard any one of our historic trains!

From Elkins

Explore the mountains on a four-hour round trip to the High Falls of Cheat in our smooth, climate-controlled and diesel powered passenger train, the New Tygart Flyer. Need more adventure? Take the six-hour excursion into high mountain country to Spruce on the 1920 vintage Cheat Mountain Salamander. Both excursions depart Elkins and offer scenic vistas of rivers, mountain valleys, and a passage through a wooden "S" curve tunnel built beneath Cheat Mountain.

On scheduled evenings, enjoy a four-course meal on the 4-hour Mountain Explorer Dinner train. This fulfilling adventure sometimes comes packaged with a Murder Mystery show.

In Nearby Durbin

Board Old #3, the Durbin Rocket, one of only three operating Climax geared logging locomotives on earth, to chug along the beautiful Greenbrier River. This steam-driven locomotive offers open-car views and closed-car comfort. If you're the ultimate adventure seeker...stay overnight at the end of the line in a fully equipped Castaway Caboose.

Departing the historic depots of Elkins and Durbin April through December, the Durbin & Greenbrier Valley Railroad also offers a full schedule of special train events and in November/December, the ever-popular Polar Express™ departs Elkins.

Shopping & Dining

Both Depots house gift shops loaded with rail souvenirs, and the RailYard Restaurant, adjacent to the Elkins Depot, hosts a casual dining experience before or after your ride.

Explore wild, wonderful West Virginia from an entirely new perspective — aboard any one of our unique trains! From April to December, the surrounding mountains and valleys come alive with the welcoming wail of whistles from beautifully refurbished and historic locomotives that depart both Elkins and Durbin depots. Take a unique journey, into some of the best scenery this side of the Rockies! Our unique collection of trains roll through a potpourri of West Virginia mountain wilderness areas!

ALL ABOARD

ADVENTURE

Nestled between the Continental Divide and the shadow of Seneca Rocks, the unique mountain landscape found in the Randolph County region, is home to a wealth of natural wonders like the Monongahela National Forest, Dolly Sods Scenic Area, Spruce Knob, the highest point in the state, and Blackwater Falls State Park.

Specially constructed trails let mountain bikers have “epic rides” while hikers, not intimidated by great mountain landscapes, can go out into the backcountry as far as they like.

The Highlands Trail provides 25 miles of an exceptionally scenic trail with panoramic views of the West Virginia countryside as it passes through a mountainous region with small towns and rural farmland. For more information, go to www.highlandstrail.org

Our rivers, streams and forests feature outstanding fishing and hunting with plenty of fish and game. For winter sports enthusiasts, we are just a short drive from three major ski areas.

Few places offer a better way to experience nature firsthand and the opportunity to revel in the solitude of the ancient Appalachian Mountains.

THE FORKS INN & RESTAURANT IS FIRST AND FOREMOST A FAMILY BUSINESS.

Brothers Trevor and Drew Stalnaker and their uncle, Executive Chef Jon Eric Stalnaker, combined 40+ years of restaurant experience into a business doing what they're passionate about, in a place they love.

They grow most of their own herbs, smoke a variety of meats on-premise, and make everything from mouth-watering desserts and soups to specialty mustards from scratch! Using local produce and supporting local farms, their menu is a mixture of fine American comfort dishes, which changes seasonally, so there's always a new reason to return.

At The Forks, you'll enjoy a relaxed atmosphere, stunning year-round views, and exceptional service. Visit them online to learn more about the family, check the hours of operation, view the current menu, or reserve a newly-remodeled inn room for your upcoming visit to Randolph County, West Virginia.
